

Training in Deep Brain Reorienting®

Level 1 – Healing of the shock at the core of traumatic experiences

26th, 27th and 28th September 2024

Come join the training delivered by Cindy Shrigley and Dr Tina Shrigley

Deep Brain Reorienting (DBR) is a transformational trauma psychotherapy developed by psychiatrist and author, Dr Frank Corrigan. DBR is based in an understanding of the key role of midbrain neuroanatomy in traumatic experiences which have clinical consequences.

Who Should Attend?

Deep Brain Reorienting (DBR) training is for qualified and experienced mental health professionals working with trauma. DBR trainings combine underlying theory, demonstrations and practicums, with ample opportunity for feedback and questions.

Level 1 DBR Training Learning Outcomes

- To develop an understanding of the neuroanatomy and neurophysiology of threat and adversity response systems in the midbrain, the upper part of the brain stem.
- To be able to track and process deep sequences that have occurred so quickly that only their late effects have been recognized.
- To identify and differentiate the main components of physiological sequences underpinning conflicted orienting patterns in relational connections.

Cindy Shrigley, MSW, RSW has specialized in the treatment of complex trauma and dissociation for over 35 years. She primarily uses DBR in her clinical practice. Tina has a background in kinesiology, giving her a unique understanding of the brain-body connection.
